

Colours of our Scarves

Fair Play Foundation

PT Project Worker Vacancy

The Colours of our Scarves project is a programme tackling inequality and prejudice within Scottish sport and Scottish society in general.

We work with a range of stakeholders within Scottish sport to ensure the environment and the way people interact with each other through sport is done in a positive and respectful manner. The project looks to address social ills such as sectarianism, homophobia, sexism, racism and all other forms of prejudice and discrimination.

We are currently looking to recruit a part-time project worker and will be accepting applications up until Thursday the 19th of July, with interviews taking place on the 23rd and 24th of July.

The project worker will be responsible for the organisation and delivery of sports club based “Equality through Sport” workshops with content specific to sectarianism and other hate behaviours

The work will primarily be with local clubs, on location throughout the west central Scotland however national travel will be required on occasion.

The project worker will play a part in the Colours of our Scarves project which has now been running for 5 years and delivers across Scotland to 10 centres of higher and Further Education, all of the SFA’s Schools of Football and SFA Performance Schools.

The new exciting role will see the project work expand upon the existing activity, utilising the existing curriculum and for the first time will be able to offer free workshop provision for local sports club staff on location.

The successful applicant will also be responsible for workshop planning and delivery, and will offer support to the wider Colours of our Scarves project and staff.
